The advantages of using polished brass are many

Firstly, its durability and strength are second to none due to the material's combination of zinc and copper.

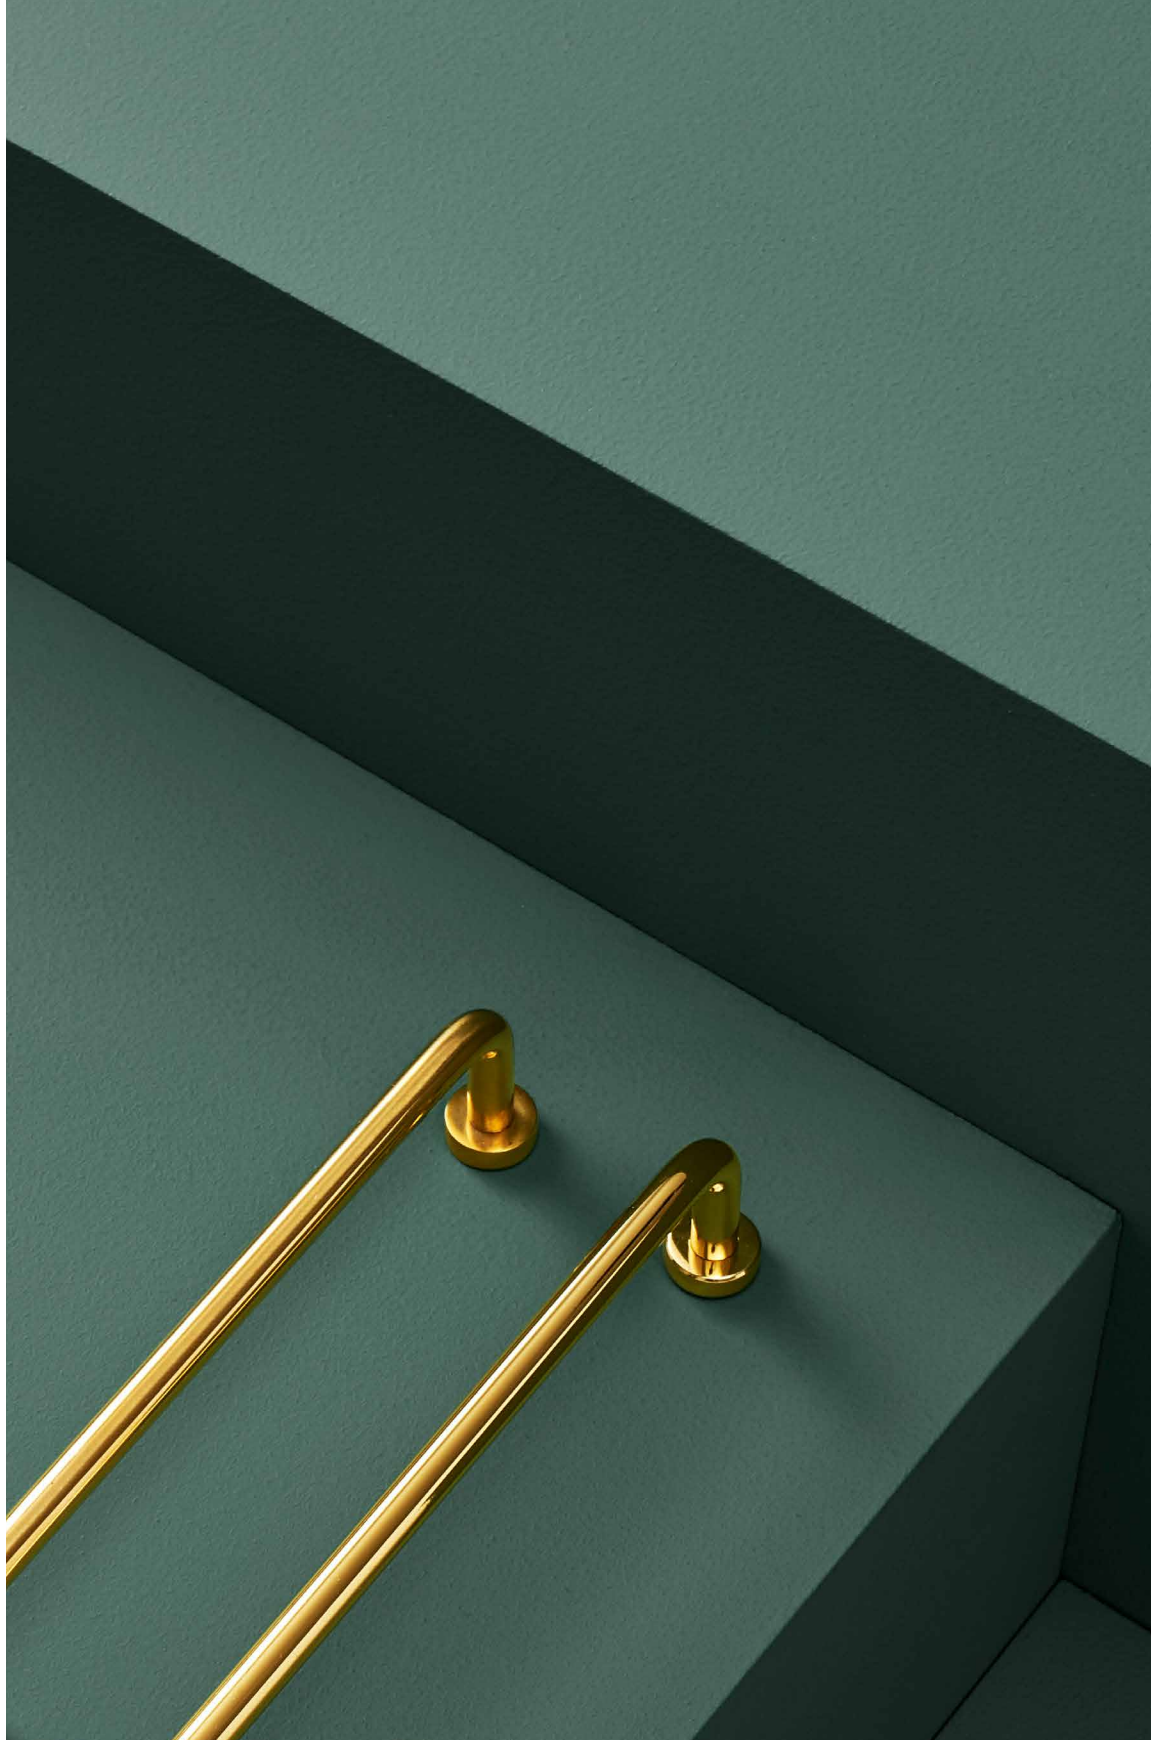

Secondly, our brass is lead-free. Lead is normally used to enhance the strength of the material, but we have succeeded in making these handles without lead but still without compromising its durability and strength.

Thirdly, the metal is a living material in the sense that it changes colour over time to the much sought-after natural patinated colour. This colour change happens when the metal is exposed to water, oxygen and carbon dioxide – so basically when being used in our daily lives. You can always choose to polish it to maintain the high gloss brass colour.

Lounge

LOUNGE is a well-known design from furnipart. The use of untreated brass makes it possible to enhance the classic look of this handle - as it will over time, get the characteristic aged look. This handle comes both with and without leather.

Patina

PATINA comes in two different sizes. Its outline is rounded and soft, and when catching the light there even seems to be a slight surface tension adding to the softness of the design.

PATINA will, as all our untreated brass handles, oxidise over time transforming the handle into a unique piece of decorative hardware.

Dot

DOT is a minimalistic knob, where only the essential remains – two mutually proportioned, well-matched cylinders. Up until now, the design has only been available in inox look limiting its range of use. The polished brass edition converts the design into a warm and softer looking knob which is much more visible than the original.

Tumbler

TUMBLER is a knob, which can best be described as a modern classic. Its shape resembles a classic hook design, but its curve has been modified to ensure an excellent grip.
